In Not Crazy On Lupron, author Sarah Thomas shares her honest and heartbreaking account of her infertility journey. From diagnosis to treatment to healing, Sarah's story is a powerful reminder that you are not alone.

Sarah was first diagnosed with infertility in 2012. After years of trying to conceive, she and her husband decided to pursue IVF. Sarah underwent multiple rounds of IVF, but each one ended in failure. She was devastated and began to feel like she was losing her mind.

In 2015, Sarah was finally pregnant. But her joy was short-lived. She miscarried at 10 weeks. Sarah was heartbroken and lost all hope. She felt like her body had failed her and that she would never be able to have a child.

But Sarah refused to give up. She sought out support from a therapist and began to focus on her own healing. She learned to cope with her grief and loss, and she began to rebuild her life.

In 2017, Sarah and her husband decided to adopt. They were matched with a birth mother and welcomed their son into the world in 2018. Sarah is now a happy and fulfilled mother. She is grateful for her son and for the journey that led her to him.

Not Crazy On Lupron is a story of hope, healing, and resilience. It is a must-read for anyone who has ever struggled with infertility.
